

How The Bats Got Their Wings

Long long ago, in the dreamtime all the bats had no wings.

All the time all the bats used their feet to pick up stuff.

One day ... a bat found something it was a stick and a leaf.
She tried to pick it up and it worked!

She found the other bats and showed them what she found.

They copied her.

Then the herd heard laughter.

They turned around... and they saw of animals behind them!

“What are stupid bats doing?” asked the crocodile.

“Are you trying to dress up as a tree? Wait no – a bird?”

“hee hee!” giggled the snake.

“We are not,” said the bats.

“Are too!” said the tiger.

“ARE NOT!” shouted the bats as if they were trying to give up.

“THAT’S ENOUGH!” screamed the cat.

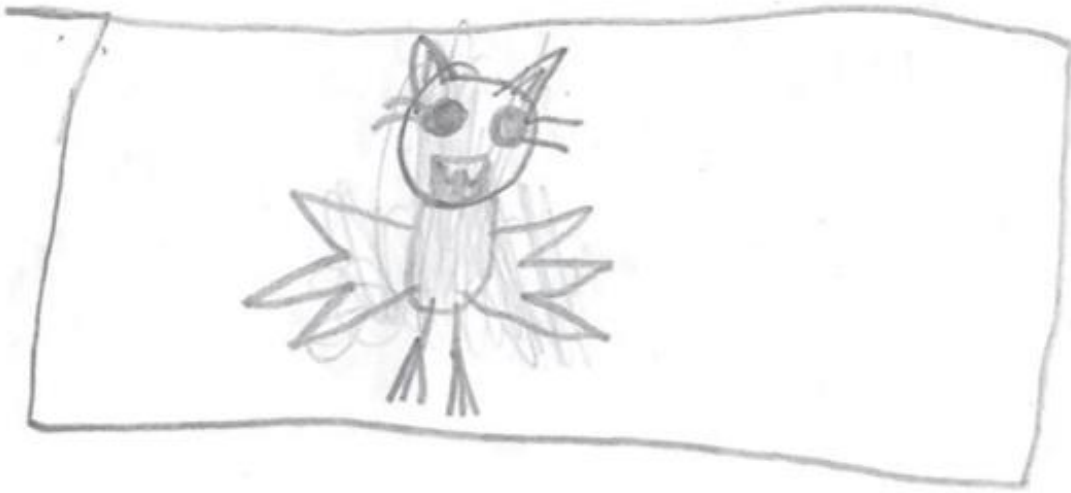

The bats stomped to the right and the animals stomped to left.

Then the bats walked to their cave to sleep.

In the daytime all the bats slowly grew something...

WINGS!
